Sudras did unskilled labor. The higher Sudras were craftsmen while the lower Sudras were servants who washed clothing and swept houses. Sudras being murdered was not seen as a big deal; it was as much of an atrocity as killing a cow. Out of all the castes, Sudras were the only people who were not allowed to have Brahmin gurus.

Sudras — The Indian Caste System: The Enforcer of organization
The ancient texts designate the Shudra as a peasant. Shudras were described as the giver of grain and ancient texts describe a Shudra's mode of earning as being "by the sickle and ears of corn". The ancient precept, "Vedas are destroyer of agriculture and agriculture is destroyer of Vedas", is shown as one of the reasons as to why the Shudras were not allowed to learn Vedas.

Shudra — Wikipedia
Sudras in Ancient India tries to show how the labouring class in ancient times came to be known as sudras. It explores their social and economic relations with the members of the higher varnas. It also tries to tackle several other problems: Was ancient Indian society a slave society?
