Rudolf Khametovich Nureyev was a Russian ballet dancer and choreographer. Nureyev is regarded by some as the greatest male ballet dancer of his generation. Nureyev was born on a Trans-Siberian train near Irkutsk, Siberia, Soviet Union to a Bashkir-Tatar family. He began his early career with the company that in the Soviet era was called the Kirov Ballet in Leningrad. He defected from the Soviet Union to the West in 1961, despite KGB efforts to stop him. This was the first defection of a Soviet a

~~Revealed: secrets of Nureyev's defection~~ | ~~The Independent~~

A well-written pound of paper, this book chronicles the life of Rudolph Nureyev, the bad boy of ballet. His defection to the West left him with the sense that the only way his value could be measured was in securing as much money as possible. While reading this, I was often struck by the fact that his early life in the Soviet Union stayed with him so closely, in his attention seeking and having a fits like a toddler if he didn't get what he wanted.
